WITH MCKINLEY?—HIS OWN LANGUAGE CONVICTS HIM.

WHAT'S THE MATTER

WITH MCKINLEY?—HIS OWN LANGUAGE CONVICTS HIM.

Why McKinley Keeps Silent.

The reason of McKinley's silence is not far to seek. He dare not face the following facts:

First—McKinley voted to suspend the rules and pass a free silver bill in 1887.

Second—in 1878 he voted for the Bland Silver Dollar Bill and supported it, and did much to accomplish its passage, against the veto of President Hayes.

Third—in 1888, when chairman of the Platform Committee of the Republican National Convention, he reported resolutions denouncing the Democratic Administration in its efforts to demonetize silver."

Fourth—in 1890, when leader of the House, he advocated the passage of the Sherman Silver purchase law and declared: "I want the double standard."—Catholic Herald.

If Major McKinley was sincere, if he was the people's friend he would not wait at home to receive a few callers from the money aristocracy. He would show himself in earnest, an ### Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate, and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents and $1 per bottle at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

Children's and infants' cloaks, ladies' Misses' and children's vests and union suits, full stock of hoseery. Opening this week at T. P. Martin & Co's.

Gray Hair Made Dark.

I saw in your paper a statement that Zulu Vuller would restore any head of hair to its natural color in three weeks. As I was very gray I sent for a sample package, and in less than three weeks my hair was perfectly restored to its natural color. My wife's hair was a light red, and by using Zulu Vuller, her hair is now a beautiful auburn. Any one can get a sample package, of Zulu Vuller by sending 21 two-cent stamps to Wilson & Co., New Concord, O., and if it does not restore the hair to natural color in three weeks they will return your stamp; it not only restores the hair to its natural color, but will stop the hair falling out immediately and is one of the best hair tonics made, and you take no risk, and if it does not satisfy you perfectly they will return your stamp.

SORROW AND DISGUST

At the National Republican Headquarters.

The Famous London Financial News Article isAuthentic and the Champion Republican Campaign Lie is Nailed to the Wall.

Democratic and Silver National Headquarters, Chicago, Sept. 24, 1896.—The republican campaign has been maled to the wall, and there is sorrow and disgust at the republican headquarters.

The famous London Financial News article is authentic. All of the lies that were to be believed have been exposed and will be of no avail. To the sin of lying the republican managers have added that of forgery, but the people are not to be deceived.

The blundering republican managers are so stupid that they even attempted to assail the authenticity of the Financial News article, an exact reproduction of which appears on this page. By their stupidity they have attracted general attention to the most damaging document in the history of man. This piece of idiotic management is on a par with the Mexican dollar fiasco, and the slave-driving act now being performed by railroad companies and the confederated trusts and syndicates.

Here is a brief history of the now famous London Financial News article. This publication is the leading financial authority in the money center of the world. In 1894, at a time when William McKinley, Senator Gorman, John Sherman, and all the leading republicans in the country were working for the free coinage of silver, the London bankers, the Rothschilds, and the great English papers representing them, because the United States would declare its financial independence of England. They promptly went to work, and, at considerable expense, purchased the republican party. These same agents attempted to deliver the democratic party to the Rothschilds, but it is a matter of history that they failed.

English papers discuss American politics with a brutal frankness. If any proposed "American policy threatens English commercial and financial supremacy," they would promptly say:

"Being in close touch with the London bankers, the Financial News was in a position to voice their fears, and it did so in the article which now threatens to wipe the republican political syndicate off the face of the earth."

A editorial in question was printed in the London Financial News April 30, 1894. It was freely commented on by republican and democratic papers, which are now frantically declaiming that no such article ever appeared.

Being in close touch with the London bankers, the Financial News was in a position to voice their fears, and it did so in the article which now threatens to wipe the republican political syndicate off the face of the earth."

Another among those who received a copy of the Financial News article was Mr. Alexander Karolyi, secretary of the American Bimetallic League. It was forwarded to him by the "Distant Press Cuttings" bureau, the leading London firm engaged in that business, and was pasted on one of their slips, a fact well known to all the Weavers in carrying out their plan of action.

Mr. Tyler received a copy of the paper containing the article, and so did Congressman Coffeen, of Montana, and many others who kept posted on the editorial utterances of the leading London bankers.

When the St. Louis republican convention repudiated all past records and openly declared for a single gold standard, the London financial article was repeated in several American papers. At first the bankers' agents paid little attention to it. They believed they had money enough to buy McKinley's election, and expected that Whitney and Belmont and Cleveland would muzzle the free silver proponents at the Chicago convention. They were mistaken.

Something had to be done. They realized that unless the article was discredited McKinley would surely be defeated. They proceeded to pronounce the article a fraud and a lie. In October they gave it more effect by the national republican committee officially declaring that no such article was ever printed and followed this up by the preparation and circulation of clumsy forged letters from two of them, A. C. Platt, of Lincoln, U. S. A.—Dear Sir: We beg to return your cutting, which you forwarded us, and say that no such article ever appeared in the Financial News. Faithfully yours,

—SEPARATE EDITOR.

"Faithfully yours, the editor." When a man sends a cablegram he always signs it, "Faithfully yours," or "I have the honor to remain, dear sir, with highest esteem, your most obedient & Obedient Son," or something to that effect. Here is the next attempt of the literary bureau of the republican national committee:

"The Financial News, London, Aug. 13: We have received numerous letters from American bankers and manufacturers concerning what purports to be editorials from the Financial News, and which have been reprinted in various western papers as 'campaign literature.' Our Office has passed over the article to you, and it is from the London Financial News of March 30! No such article was ever printed by us, and its whole tenor is directly opposed to the view we have taken of the effect of free silver on the United States. We are for free advertising free silver coinage, we have persistently pointed out that it spells repudiation and the withdrawal of all European capital."

Now read what the London bankers think about the free coinage of silver.

Churning Done in One Minute.

I have tried the Lightning Churn, you recently described in your paper and it is certainly a wonder. I can churn in less than one minute, and the butter is elegant, and you can get considerably more butter than when you use a common churn. I took the agency for the churn here and every butter maker that sees it buys one. I have sold three dozen and I know they give the best of satisfaction. I know I can sell 100 in this township, as they churn so quickly, make much more butter than common churning, and are so cheap. Some one in every township can make two or three hundred dollars selling these churning. By addressing J. F. Casey & Co. St. Louis, you can make big money right at home. I have made $20 in the past two weeks and I never sold anything before in my life.

BRYAN'S VOTE FOR WEAVER.

Senator Faulkner Says It Was By Request of the Committee.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Comment having been made upon the fact that Mr. Bryan supported Mr. Weaver for the Presidency in 1892, Senator Fauler, after consultation with Senator Gorman to-day, gave out the following statement on the subject: "I have submitted the inquiry concerning Mr. Bryan's vote for Weaver in 1892 to Senator Gorman, who was a member of the Democratic Campaign Committee that year. He says that the National Committee, of which Mr. William H. Haynes was chairman, with Mr. Don M. Dickinson, chairman of the Campaign committee, determined to request all the Democrats in Nebraska and the states west thereof to unit with the Weaver people in carrying out their plan of action to prevent the election of Bryan or any other English paper. They warned the bankers of England against the danger of the free coinage of silver by the United States, and their warnings were not in vain. Mr. Haynes is now spending the second month home visiting many of these same London bankers in an attempt to perpetuate their financial supremacy over the United States.

Among those who received a copy of the Financial News article were Mr. Alexander Karolyi, secretary of the American Bimetallic League. It was forwarded to him by the "Distant Press Cuttings" bureau, the leading London firm engaged in that business, and was pasted on one of their slips, a fact well known to all the Weavers in carrying out their plan of action.

Mr. Tyler received a copy of the paper containing the article, and so did Congressman Coffeen, of Montana, and many others who kept posted on the editorial utterances of the leading London bankers.

An Interview.

On their way home from New York City, a few days ago, Messrs John C. Thompson and John F. King, of this city, spent a day in Washington. While in that city they were interviewed on the political situation in Kentucky by a reporter of the Washington Post. The interview taken from that paper appears viz :

"Mr. Thompson and I are both for sound money," said Mr. King, "and yet we will cast our votes for Bryan.

"He is the nominee of the party, and, I think, should get the support of the Democrats. The third ticket will command a considerable following in Kentucky, and it is a question which of the two regular candidates it will hurt the most. Undoubtedly a good many sound money Democrats would have voted for McKinley had it not been for the action at Indianapolis.

On the whole it is probable that McKinley will lose more than Bryan, but it is still to be doubt up to election day."

"The farmers of Kentucky are very largely for free silver, and many strong Republicans among them are coming out for Bryan. They have been getting the worst of it so long that their cause is easily understood. Tobacco, which is one of our main crops, has declined in the last few years from 15 and 16 cents a pound to 3 and 4 cents, which is less than the cost of production. Stock men are also sufferers, for those who had bought beef cattle a year ago are forced to sell to-day at a price that does not allow one cent of profit. Under such conditions it is natural for the country people to want a change, and they are willing to risk a vote for Bryan and take a chance on improving their situation."

"Pleasant words are as an honey comb, sweet to the soul and health to the bones."

"There is a way that seems right unto a man, but the ends thereof are the ways of death."

"If you know not how to live aright make way for those who do. You will discover what a number of things you can do without when you have no money to get them.—Thackeray."

PRINCE BISMARCK.

Beloives that United States Should Load Bismarck.

The International Agricultural Congress of Budapest, Hungary, declares the success of Free Silver in America and urges that Europe Stop Exporting Silver to the World.

That international bimetallism will quickly follow the election of William J. Bryan as president, and the restoration of free silver coinage in the United States, is the opinion of the following letter, written Aug. 24, 1896, by Prince Bismarck of Germany, and by the declaration of the international agricultural congress now in session at Budapest, Hungary, the latest development in the movement for the adoption of bimetallism.

It is the opinion sent by members of the congress in favor of bimetallism, coming from such distinguished sources, that cannot fail to produce the first genuine political sensation of the present campaign, and will bring about a decided change in the platform and republican assertions that this country cannot change the monetary system of the world.

They mean that the election of Mr. Bryan will be heralded by the great agricultural and mining interests of the United States, to the opening of the United Empire, as well as America, to silver as well as gold, and consequent relief to the paralysis which is affecting the agricultural business and laboring classes, just as it has done in the United States.

Therefore the belief is given to the gold argument that the present agitation will operate against international bimetallism and tear to tatters the republican platform plank which prates about the stability of the United States currency, and the welfare of the people to its former place in the monetary system of the world.

Prince Bismarck's letter in favor of bimetallism was written in response to a question put to him by a reporter from Germany asking him to give his opinion concerning the proposed legislation of the Commonwealth.

REVOLT OF PLUTOCRACY

Wealth Arrayed Against Constitutional Government.

MONEY MENACES THE PEOPLE.

The Millions of This Country Openly Assert That Property Has the Divine Right to Rule Manhood—Triumph of Gold Means the Servitude of the Masses.

No single issue ever raged in the history of American politics exceeds in importance that of the control of wealth and subordinating our currency from the control of those foreign and domestic corporations which seek to inflict on us as a permanent system their usurpation of the sovereign power of issuing and regulating the circulating medium.

The only single evil greater than corporatism is the control of the currency. It is greater because when the people are robbed, whether by direct or indirect taxation, the results quickly appear. But when the robbery is carried on through the connection of cash and the influence of corporation credit paper they are brought to bankruptcy before realizing the cause.

The entire plutocracy is in revolt against our system of popular constitutional government. So menacing a movement has never been known nor never occurred before in our history—not even when the same class, under the leadership of the Biddleys of the United States bank, captured the administration of John Quincy Adams and so entrenched themselves in control of the government that they looked with contempt on the attempt made by the people under Jackson's leadership to dislodge them and restore popular government.

The wealth of the plutocratic class of that day was trivial compared to the wealth of the same class of today, notwithstanding the points of similarity between the campaign which won against them then and that which has now been inaugurated are striking in their suggestiveness of the way history repeats itself.

John Quincy Adams had been elected as a Democrat, but he abandoned the party, repudiated the principles to which it had pledged his administration and endeavored to re-establish the Federalist party, while fundamental maxim, as defined by Daniel Webster himself, was that all stable and orderly government must be based on property.

As the fundamental tenet of Democracy is that all just government must be based on manhood right and on the consent of the governed, the masses of the people who were then in rebellion against the Adams administration and against the campaign which they now feel when they see federal officeholders controlling the action of conventions called at the instance of Mr. Whitney of the Standard Oil Company, Mr. Morgan, the Rothschild agent of the Rothschild bankers.

Andrew Jackson but voiced this just resentment of the masses when in his inaugural address he declared that it was the right of the people to eject from office those who had been in位 for too long in an attempt to dictate the results of elections. It was because the Jacksonites had seen federal offices used to control state legislatures, to dictate nominations, to interfere at the polls, that Jackson decried the evils of corruption in government, that whatever the evils of changes they were less than those of the permanent tenure, which breeds in the officeholder the spirit of insolence and despotism.

He was again the exponent and champion of the masses when he followed his attack on the Federalists with a determined assault on the national bank and its control of the treasury and of congress. For this he was denounced in New York city and Boston as no other American president had ever been denounced, for he did not swear. With a supreme confidence in the people and in his own integrity, he forced the fighting, keeping the aggressive always and not stopping to defend himself until overwhelming victory showed that no man who really represents the cause of popular freedom need fear to appeal to the people for support of the principles on which their freedom and progress depend.

On the issue as it was then presented appeal has once more been made to the people, who have been once more提醒 of the control of the government. Democracy has once more been betrayed by those it trusted. Once more the millions of the country are in the field openly asserting that property has a divine right to rule manhood and that it is treason to try to stop it.

They have drawn their lines of class and caste and drawn them hard. Those of them who once called themselves Democrats do no longer. They call the Democrats of Jefferson and Jackson, they do not Republicans, they do not Lincoln, and evil thing. They say that the rule of the people is anarchy, and they threaten the country with the worst they can do to it unless they are allowed to name the next president and vice president, Hanna and Morgan, Williams and Davis, in control at Washington as their agents.

The issue against African slavery was never so vital nor so sharply defined as this, for if these few thousand men who control more than half the wealth of the country can force their will on the government it means servitude for the people regardless of race or color. But they cannot win. There is not money—there are no rifles and cannon enough in America or in the world to impose plutocracy on America as a permanent condition.

Against plutocracy and class government the Democratic party has made its "appeal to Caesar." And in America there is no king but Caesar and no Caesar but the people.—St. Louis Post-Democrat.

HIGH MONEY, LOW TIMES.

Mr. Bryan Says That Phrase Strikes the Knob of Free Silver Economy.

Longfellow is said to be the author of the gold sentiment of Kennedy. Yet it turned out it and the regions round about—fully 40,000 people to greet Mr. Bryan.

The Lexington procession, which came off in Madison, was a striking feature. It was made up of 1,000 men and was fully five miles in length.

Mr. Bryan was interrupted by the passing of the procession for 25 minutes. When I had passed, he continued:

"FELLOW CITIZENS—I have been interested in the midst of your procession, but I am sorry to say that all of this is the most pleasant interruption of which I have recollection. I shall remember this speech which was cut in two by the most remarkable parade which I have ever seen in good fortune or ill fortune. And they are manners which presented motions which make any further speaking unnecessary."

"If I were to talk to you from now until night, I could not more than emphasize the same point, that high prices are brought by you. I would not attempt to, drawn with letters not altogether according to the latest patterns, but it represented a sentiment that ought to find a lodgment in the memories of all—that is, 'High Money, Low Times.'

"I have no time to find in any of the speeches that all you people say to the opponents of free silver a single sentence that contains as much of political economy and common sense as is contained in that phrase, 'high money, low times.' It is the same old things which are hidden from those who are themselves all wise are revealed unto those who in the estimation of the financiers are but babes and sucklings. I saw another motto, 'Our Banks Are Full, but Our Pockets Are Empty.' And in that sentence is epitomized 20 years of banking history."

"Nature smiles upon your husbandry, your soil gives forth in rich proportion, but according to the experience of the farmer, with all that he can do with his industry, with his economy, with his sweat and toil, he finds that the load of the American farmer grows harder every year."

"In modern times, under the rule of those who ruled and swept the sabers as they said, by divine right, complaint was made with regard to the things which are hidden from those who are themselves all wise are revealed unto those who in the estimation of the financiers are but babes and sucklings. I saw another motto, 'Our Banks Are Full, but Our Pockets Are Empty.' And in that sentence is epitomized 20 years of banking history."

Heart Disease Cured

By Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

Fainting, Weak or Hungry Spells, Irregular or Intermittent Pulse, Fluttering or Palpitation, Choking Sensation, Shortness of Breath, Swelling of Feet and Ankles, are symptoms of a disease of the Weak Heart.

MRS. N. C. MILLER.

Of Fort Wayne, Ind., writes on Nov. 23, 1894:

"I waited for you to write, and I had weak, hungry spells, and my heart would palpitate so hard, that I would be acute and tortured. Then I became so weak, my memory I could not stand. I was treated by several physicians without relief and gave up the idea of being well again. About two years ago I came to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. One bottle of the Heart Cure stopped all heart troubles and the Restorative Nervine did the rest, and now I sleep soundly and attend my household and social duties with out any trouble."

Dr. Miles' Remedies Restore Health

The body found in the river at Maysville was identified as that of Eldred Graves, former sheriff of Mason county.

The receiver of the Richmond, Indianapolis, Irvine and Beattyville railroad reported the total earnings for the month of June to be $6,806.83 and the operating expenditures $4,703.99, leaving a net earning of $2,102.84.

The "impartial summary" published below was clipped from the Courier-Journal as a special from Washington, the figures being added. In Maryland is counted a Southern state by the report, Bryan is conceded 226 votes, or two more than enough to elect. Without Maryland he has 218 votes, with Illinois, Indiana and Michigan to look to for six votes. To say the least of the situation it appears quite rose for Mr. Bryan. The special is as follows:

The real field news that is received to Washington may be briefly and impartially summarized in this way: First—That the Eastern States and New England States are hopelessly lost to Bryan. Electoral votes, 120.

Second—That the South, with a bare fighting chance in Kentucky, North Carolina, Florida and Louisiana, will commit itself for free silver, and that all the territory west of the Mississippi can be classed for Bryan, with Missouri and, in all probability, Minnesota added to the column. Electoral votes, 226.

Third—That Iowa, Wisconsin and Ohio can be classed as reasonably safe for McKinley, 45 votes.

Fourth—That the distinctly pivotal territory is embraced within the states of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, 53 votes.

This is the conclusion of four or five who honestly seek information at the various headquarters and from the endless procession of visiting politicians from all sections of the country, who inquire of such people, who would naturally be in possession of facts of value bearing on the situation. Of course, a great deal of loose talk is heard about Bryan carrying New York and Pennsylvania and one or more of the New England States, and of McKinley making inroads in the South and upon the free silver states of the far West, but conservative, unbiased men pay but little attention to that sort of conversation. As the campaign advances, the sectional lines are becoming more clearly defined, in the opinion of a great majority of the keenest observers, and they contend that it is useless to be blind to the facts as they exist.

THOSE

Who Expect to Vote in November Must Register.

OCTOBER 6, 7 AND 8 SET APART

For the Purpose By the Statutes—Instructions For Those Wishing to Get Their Names
On the Books.

ELECTION OFFICERS WILL PRESIDE

The annual registration begins on Tuesday, October 6, and continues three days. The places of registration will remain open from 6 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night, giving everybody a chance to register. Every one who desires to vote at the ensuing election or any election for the next year will have to register on one of the days named.

The officer appointed for the November election will also serve as officers of the registration.

The following concerning "who shall register" will be of general interest and information to the public:

Every native born male citizen of the United States, who has resided in the state of Kentucky one year, in the county of Montgomery six months and in the precinct in which he expects to vote sixty days prior to the election may register. He need not live there sixty days to register, but if, on election day, he will have lived there six days and in the county six months in the state one year, he may register and vote.

Naturalized citizens of the United States, who produce to the officers of registration, if demanded, their naturalization papers, and who have the necessary qualifications as to residence may register.

Section 1,478 determines the residence of a voter as follows: "That shall be deemed his residence where his habitation is, and to which, when absent, he has the intention of returning."

"He shall not lose his residence by absence for temporary purposes merely; nor shall he obtain a residence by being in a county or precinct for such temporary purposes, without the intention of making the county or precinct his home."

"By removing to another state or county, with the intention to make his permanent residence there, he loses his former residence."

"So, also, he loses his residence here by removal to and residing in another state, with intent to reside there an indefinite time, or by voting there, even though he may have had the intention to return here at some future period."

"The place where the family of a married man resides shall generally be considered his residence, unless the family so resides for a temporary purpose. If his family is permanently in one place and he transacts his business in another, the former shall be his residence."

Under the Wallace election law, now repealed, the clock of election or registration had the deciding vote in case the judges differed, but under the present election law, section 1,484, the sheriff of election and registration must act as umpire between the judges.

The Best Books For Boys.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson in October Ladies' Home Journal, names the best one hundred books (by American authors) for boys of from fifteen to twenty years. The first ten of the list, after naming Bulfinch's "Age of Fable," he selects in these words: "Of the classic authors, Aldrich's 'Story of a Bad Boy' is already a child's classic as well, and so are Dana's 'Two Years Before the Mast' and Hawthorne's 'Grandfather's Chair.' Longfellow's 'Hiawatha' is easy reading and full of life. Parkman's 'Oregon Trail' is the journal of a young man's trip across the Continent fifty years ago, when everything was wild. Thoreau's 'Walden Woods' has the real flavor of the forest. Cooper's 'Spy' is a tale of the American Revolution, in which Washington appears as a hero. Irving's 'Bracebridge Hall' is a delightful picture of country life which I remember to have read with delight at twelve. 'Lowell's Bigelow Papers' is full of humor, and though many of its illustrations will scars over a boy's head, yet there are plenty which he will understand."

What horse will win the $5,000 Transylvania at Lexington October 8?

When any part of the body isn't doing what the body naturally wants to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of balance. When a person does all of the parts do not work together, nothing can work just right. Sickness in any one part of the body will affect the rest of the body, if it does not succeed to sick all over the body, in order that it may get rid of all the trouble. When children sit in a row, they sit on each other's backs, and they keep the upsetting one back.

It is exactly the same with health when it fails to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—up to the kidneys, down to the bowels, and into the stomach. It holds in the body poisons and wastes that cannot go any place else. It gets into the blood. This makes it all over the system. This makes the body feel bad, and causes pain, headache, taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes wind belching, stops digestion and causes constipation. It causes pain, burn and flatulence, it makes pimples and blisters and causes sick and bilious conditions.

These are the reasons why constipation is due to this one seemingly trivial cause.

Dr. Fierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

They cause no griping and are safe for children.

OPEN LETTER

To General Simon Bolivar Buckner.

DEAR GENERAL:—The undersigned old soldiers of a lost cause, and voters of Bath County, Ky., have felt a justifiable pride in your political career in the past, and some of us had hoped to see you elected to a seat in the United States Senate or other position to which you might have aspired.

Your firm and manly execution of the duties devolving upon you while Governor of Kentucky, caused us to gladly proclaim that you were the right man in the right place and that you had made one of the best governors that ever ruled over our great State. In fact, we were proud of our old comrade.

You have lately been nominated for the Vice Presidency on a platform altogether at variance with the views of Jefferson, Jackson, Hamilton and other leaders and patriarchs of the Democratic party, inasmuch as it denounces the doctrine of Slavery, and true bimetallism and erroneously proclaims a single gold standard to be the long established principle of our Govt., and advocates national banks and other heresies, and while it condemns Allegedism and Tillmanism (whatever they may be or represent) is entirely silent as to Breckinridge-ism, in fact, that man in your State convention for delegate-at-large received 105 more votes than our beloved ex-Governor, and nearly three times as many votes as our peers Col. J. N. Northrup, whose public and private character, as well as your own, is without stain. Now, in view of these facts and the further fact that your running mate who heads the ticket, Gen. John M. Palmer, did, in 1865, while in the full pride and pomp of military power, in Kentucky, issue an order discharging not only you and us, but also depriving our fathers, brothers and friends, who, through affection and friendship, gave us food, clothes when we were hungry and naked, of the right to vote or go near the polls on election days under penalty of arrest and trial by military authority, notwithstanding many of them were strong Union men, and order being enforced by soldiers at the polls in times of profound peace, and months after our arms were surrendered, caused in our county the defeat of Hon. D. B. Lacy, for the Legislature and the defeat of the present Secretary of the Treasury, John G. Carlisle, for the State Senate from the county of Kentucky, and the defeat of Col. J.
Smith Hurt for Congress in this district, and many others that we do not now recall, and our legislative declarations that no legal election had been held in these counties, remanded the contests back to the counties which re-

Two Lives Saved.
Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr.
King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life.
Mr. Thos. Eggers, 138 Florida Street, San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles size 50c and $1.00.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 2679 hds., with receipts for the same period 1403 hds.
Sales on our market since January 1, amount to 123,456 hds. Sales of the crop of 1895 on our market to this date amount to 127,675 hds.

There have been a few hds. of fine burley sold on our market this week and the highest price of the season have been paid for two hds., $26 having been paid for a number of hds. sold from $16 to $26. The color sorts of all grades continue to bring satisfactory prices. Good and medium red leaf when it is in a sweet condition is doing fairly well, but the common non-descript sorts of off color and out of condition are lower than they have been for a number of years.
The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco 1895 crop.

Trash. (Dark or damaged tobacco)
$1.00 to $1.50.
Common color trash, $2.00 to $3.50.
Medium to good color trash, $3.50 to $5.00.
Common lugs, not color, $2.00 to $3.00.
Common color lugs, $4.00 to $6.00.
Medium to good color lugs, $6.00 to $8.00.
Common to medium leaf $5.00 to $7.00.
Medium to good leaf, $7.00 to $12.
Good to fine leaf, $12 to $15.
Select wrapper leaf, $15 to $26.
The above quotations are not applicable to green and frosted crops.

G. A. R. Reunion At Preston.

We are informed that under the auspices of the Owingsville G. A. R.
there was a great gathering of people of different political faiths, at Preston on last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The entertainment was really a G. A. R. reunion. The attendance on the first day was very small,
On the second afternoon Miss Margaret Ingles, of Paris, who is now attracting so much attention as a free silver advocate, addressed a great crowd estimated by some at 2,000 to 2,500. She spoke for about one hour.
Gentlemen who were present say she is a fine speaker who knows what she is talking about. Women political speakers are scarce in Kentucky, and no doubt the novelty attracted many.
Speeches were also made by Judge Goodpastor and Wallace Gudgel, of Owingsville, and a Mr. Babcock, of Penn. Excellent music was furnished by the White Sulphur band. Mr. Joseph Scott was present and had the best time of his life.
